AN OLD CONDUCTOR'S SUICIDE.

John C. Smith Becomes Despondent and

Hangs Himself. John C. Smith, aged fifty-six years, residing at No. 310 East South street, committed suicide some time Tuesday night by hanging himself to a joist in the cellar. Smith was for years a conductor on the Big Four railroad, and was one of the bestknown railroaders in this part of the country. He was familiarly known as "Uncle Johnny." Smith had two sons. One of the sons, Frank Smith, is married, and Smith and his other son resided with Frank, the latter's wife keeping house for the three men. Two years ago Smith's wife died, and it was at that time that he went to live with his son Frank. For the last four months Smith had appeared to brood over the death of his wife. She was buried at Crown Hill Cemetery, and he spent the greater part of the time at her grave. He would usually return to his home late in the evening, and would always appear to be in gloomy spirits. Tuesday afternoon he went, as usual, to the cemetery, and did not return until late in the evening. His sons think it was about 8 o'clock. The unmarried son was out when his father came home, but returned about 10 o'clock. He slept in the same room with his father, and on going into the bedroom to retire he This was something unusual, and though he went to bed without learning where the latter was, he had a premonition that something was wrong. The family rose early yesterday morning, and preparations were made for breakfast. Mrs. Frank Smith went into the cellar to get some butter, and she was horrified to see her father-in-iaw hanging from a joist. His eyes were half open and had a glassy appearance. His mouth was open and his tongue was half protruding. She saw at once that he was dead, and ran screaming to her husband and his brother, and told them what she had seen. They ran to the cellar and found all as she had stated. They were of the opinion that the body ought not to be cut down until the arrival of Coroner Beck, and so, having summoned him, they awaited his arrival. Coroner Beck came soon afterwards and cut the body down. He was of the opinion that Smith had been dead for ten hours. From the situation in the cellar it appeared that Smith had stood on a box, tied the rope to the joist, then around his neck, kicked the box away and fallen to his death. Smith, in company with several relatives, including his mother, came to this country from England in 1854. He was born in London. He first secured a position on a rallroad as a water boy, but he was am-bitious and rose rapidly. After serving as freight conductor on several roads he accepted a position as passenger conductor on the Big Four, and held that position until about three months ago, when he was discharged with a number of other conduc-tors. This added to his despondency. A number of the discharged men were offered and accepted positions as freight conductors. Smith was offered a like position, but he thought he was too old for this kind of work, and so declined the place. He

THE EX-SECRETARY OF STATE A GUEST OF GEN. HARRISON.

Just Back from a Tour Around the World-French Politics, Chinese Treaty and Silver Depreciation.

Gen. John W. Foster, ex-Secretary of State, arrived in the city yesterday and was the guest of General Harrison during the day and last night. He has just returned to this country after a tour of the world, and came to this city direct from San Francisco, via Denver and St. Louis. He was seen by a representative of the Journal at the residence of General Harrison last night. General Foster was acquainted with the late President Carnot, of France, and met him a number of times while connected with the Bering sea commission. When asked last night for some expression upon the characteristics of the late French President, he said:

"Carnot was an excellent example of the true French republican. He was simple in manner, of sturdy integrity and held an impartial rein between the contending parties in the republic. He commanded the respect of all parties and the governments of Europe. I think his death is not only a loss to France but to all of Europe under the present conditon of international rela-

"Were you acquainted with M. Casimir-Perier, who was to-day elected President to succeed Carnot by the Senate and Chamber of Deputies?" "I have met M. Casimir-Perier, though I cannot say that I had any acquaintance with him. I met him in society in Paris. Under all of the circumstances I believe the selection to be a wise one."

"While you were in China you probably heard expressions as to the new treaty with that country. How did you find the people of that country looking upon this

"When I was in China the news of the signing of the treaty and its submission to the Senate had just been received there. I had the privilege of meeting some of the public men of China. At Tien-Tsin the pubaccount of the detailed provisions of the treaty as because it would restore the old friendly relations that had existed between China and the United States from the very beginning of China's intercourse with the outside world. Its ratification by the Senate will be accepted as evidence of a desire on the part of the government of the United States to re-establish the cordial relations that have existed between the two coun-

In response to other questions about the people and countries he had visited, Gen. Foster said: "I found the people in India, and other English colonies in the East, suffering severely from the depreciation of silver and disposed to interpret the action of the Congress of the United States, in repealing the purchasing clause of the Sherman law, as a disposition on the part of our government to establish an exclusive gold basis. I took especial pains to impress upon those who talked with me upon the subject that the depreciation was brought about and maintained more by the action of their own government and the London bankers than any other influence, and they had their government and friends mainly, to blame for their present depressed commercial and financial condition. I told them that all parties in the United States favored a bimetallic currency, and that such would have long since have been established throughout the world but for the opposition of Great Britain.

"China and Japan have not, thus far, been seriously affected by the depreciation of silver. On the contrary, they are now enabled to take the proceeds of their heavy export trade and convert it into silver at a large increase over its former yield, while, on the other hand, labor and domestic products in those countries have not appreciably increased in price."

A rumor was current last night that Dr. Wright, superintendent of the City Hospital, intended to resign his position. He emphatically denied the report, and said there was no truth in it whatever. He has notified Charles Lewis, ambulance driver, assistant engineer Elliott and William Conway, janitor, that their services will not be required after the first of July. Dr. Wright said last night that the discharges were due to the fact that the men were continually quarreling among themselves and seriously interfered with the discipline of the hospital. Two of them are Repub-licans and the other is not yet a voter.

SAFETY BOARD HAS NOT DISCUSSED THE FEATURE OF THE RACES.

Mr. Conner Ignorant of the System Contract for Cement Sidewalks on Washington Street.

Commissioner Conner, of the Board of Public Safety, yesterday said the board had not as yet taken any action upon the question of pool selling during the races. Mr. Conner did not know what was meant by pool selling and knew nothing about how it was carried on. He said he had been told that the pool selling was what made races a success, but did not understand how they were sold or what was meant by the term. He said he did not know that the board was intending The County Commissioners yesterday issued to P. H. McNelis a license to sell

WASHINGTON-STREET CEMENT.

Contracts Let for Walks from Noble to California Street. The Board of Public Works yesterday let the contract for the long-delayed work of cementing the sidewalks of Washington street from Noble to California street. Keller Brothers, who were awarded the contract for cementing the North-Illinoisstreet sidewalks, have yet about four blocks of that work to complete, after which time they will be ready to begin upon the Washington-street work. The engineer will set the stakes as soon as the contractors are ready to begin the work. The bids were as follows, the contract being awarded to Keller Brothers: H. G. Coldwell & Co.: New walks, $3.90; resurfacing, $2.40. Laakman & Sherer: New walks, $3.60; resurfacing, $1.10. Samuel McCray: New walks, $3.44; resurfacing, 97 cents. August Buthe: New walks, $3.25; resurfacing, $1.10. F. M. Snyder & Co.: New walks, $3.20; resurfacing, 70 cents. Dearinger & Niemier: New walks, $3.20; resurfacing, $1.60. Keller Brothers: New walks, $2.97; resurfacing, 50 cents. The sidewalks of South Meridian street, from Washington to South, have also been ordered cemented, and the city engineer was ordered to prepare the necessary papers for the work The property owners on the north side of Ninth street, from Meridian street to Talbott avenue, were granted permi to lay under private contract a brick walk in that part of the street, and the engineer was ordered to set the stakes. The board took final action on the resolution for a local sewer in East street, from South to McCarty street.

A petition was filed for water mains in Summit street, from Washington street to the Panhandle tracks. A petition for brick sidewalks on the west side of Randolph street, from Washington to Koller, was granted.

THE SEWER ROUTE CHANGE.

Expense Will Be Heavier to Delaware-Street Property Owners. City Engineer Brown says the change in the route of the upper section of what is known as the Mississippi-street sewer amounts to absolutely nothing, so far as the sewer system is concerned. He says the reason for running the sewer to Alabama street and thence north instead of north on Delaware street to Home avenue was that the Board of Works did not desire to cut into the Delaware-street pavement at this time. He says that instead of relieving the property owners on North Delaware street of expense the change will probably make the expense to them somewhat heavier, as they will have to bear the additional expense of local sewers. The water at the corner of Home avenue and Delaware street is to be carried away by the construction of catch basins to connect with a private sewer, and a petition asking the board to construct these basins is now being circulated among the owners of this sewer. When a new pavement is laid upon Delaware street a sewer is to be built from the alley north of St. Joseph street to Seventh street, taking in the route proposed by the sewer which has been changed.

DILUTING THE SOIL.

Complaint Against the Sellers Farm Management.

The sanitary inspectors are preparing to retaliate upon those persons who ignore notices to clean up their premises when such notices are served upon them. Hardly a day passes that some of the inspectors do not have to go the second and third time to some person and renew a notice to clean up premises. They say they are getting tired of this duplication of work, and will very soon begin to make arrests for failure to obey notices instead of serving a second Complaint has been made to the office of the Board of Health that the contractors at Sellers farm are not burying the night soil, but are diluting it and rendering it liquid and then turning it into White river. Residents in the southwestern part of the city say that the stench arising from this dumping of the night soil into the river is exceedingly obnoxious to them.

AT THE FRESH-AIR MISSION.

House at the Park.

Yesterday was really the first good day for the Fresh Air Mission. The members of the St. Vincent de Paul Society were in charge and Mrs. James Wilson and Miss Landrigan were present all day to attend to the camp. It is expected that the ground for the frame building will be broken today and that the house will be ready for occupancy within two weeks. There were five children out there, and one, a little lame boy, was enjoying the luxury of a comfortable couch in the shelter of a large tree. A trained nurse, Miss Ashby, is always in attendance, and a cook, Ella Ferguson, has been secured to see that the lunches for the children are properly prepared. Thomas Hubbard, a constable, is in charge of the grounds this year to care for the place and to be a protection to the visitors at the camp. There was a meeting of the vice presidents yesterday morning, with Rev. G. A. Carstensen in the chair, to arrange some of the details. A committee consisting of Mrs. Silas Baldwin, Mrs. Goodhart, Mrs. Eckhouse, Mrs. Tilly, Mrs. Reaume, Mrs. Ingersoll, Mrs. Oaks and Miss Sharpe has been appointed to arrange the bill of fare for each day. All physicians in the city and those at the dispensary may give certificates to mothers who have sick children to take them to the mission and receive its benefits. And those who have the mission in charge wish all ministers, physicians and other workers to take an interest in the mission and send sick children out. When the house is done children may be kept there over night and not have to come to the hot city, and there will be trained nurses present day and night to attend them. It will require $2,000 to operate the mission this summer and the managers ask the assistance of the public, as for-merly, to carry on the work. Members of different societies will be present each day in addition to those who are there every day to amuse the children and render what aid is necessary. The Fresh Air Mission is one of the great saving charitable works and children who are badly housed and are ill may have the best of experienced care with medicine and food of the right kind. Last summer there were ninety-five children present some days and this season after the building is completed there will be ample accommodation for one hundred. The managers would like to have ten children there every day.

Y. M. C. A. Lecture Course. The lecture course of the Young Men's Christian Association for next season is practically completed. It will be opened late in October by Ovide Musin, the violinist, supported by the Musin Grand Concert Company. Musin is always a favorite in this city, Tomlinson Hall being crowded the last time he was here. The other musical attractions will include the Oberlin Glee Club, which is well known here; the Arion Ladies' Quartet, of Chicago, and the Apollo Male Quartet Concert Company, in-cluding Charles T. Howe, the flutist. The entertainments will be given by Leland T. Powers, Mr. and Mrs. Wallis A. Wallis, English dialogue entertainers and vocalists, who have been very favorably received in New York this spring, and Soto Sunetars, a Japanese juggler, who is said to give a pleasing entertainment. The lecturers the coming season will be but three in number, but will be of the very highest character and include Frank W. Gunsaulus, of Chicago, the greatest as well as the most expensive pulpit orator of the West; Col. L. F. Copeland, the most popular lecturer ever on the Y. M. C. A. course, and probably C. H. Frasier. There will be ten attractions in the course as heretofore, but the cost is much greater than any previous cost is much greater than any previous year. The course will be given in Associa-

Funeral of Dr. Wells.

The funeral of the late Dr. Graham A. Wells occurred yesterday morning at his late residence on North New Jersey street. The services were conducted by the Rev. Joseph A. Milburn, who, with a large number of relatives and friends, went to Cincinnati, the old home of Mrs. Wells, and where another service was held in the afternoon. The burial was at Spring Grove Cemetery, where the love and friendship of many friends was shown by beautifu floral offerings. Dr. Wells was one of whom it could be said truthfully that everybody was his friend.

Small, but Carried a Razor.

Bert Gibson, a colored boy, became involved in a dispute with a small companion in the alley in the rear of Tron's Exchange, on North Illinois street, yesterday evening, at 6:30 o'clock, when the latter drew a razor and carved him in the chin, the neck and chest directly over the heart. Gibson was borne in a bloody condition to the City Dispensary, where his wounds were dressed. The cuts are deep, but not serious. The murderous youngster who cut him fled and has not been seen since.

Commercial Travelers' Picnic. The Commercial Travelers' Accident Association will hold its annual meeting for the election of officers at Armstrong's Park on next Saturday. Governor Matthews and Mayor Denny have been invited to address the meeting. The Baldheaded Glee Club will sing several favorite songs. There will also be music, dancing, baseball, football, boating and other amusements. The day will be spent by the traveling men with their families and friends in a picnic.

Broke His Foot.

Tweed Davis, colored, a workman on the sewer being made at Market and Noble streets, was sitting on the trestlework, thirty feet from the ground, yesterday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, when a rope broke, letting some of the framework fall. Davis jumped to the ground to get out of danger, but in so doing broke the bones of his right foot. He was removed to his home, No. 143 South New Jersey street, by the city ambulance.

Dunlap's Celebrated Hats, Straw and Derby, at Seaton's Hat Store. THE RACES NEXT WEEK.

Famous Horses, Great Riders, and an Enormous Crowd Will Be There. Among the many horses that will ap-pear in the races at the Fair Ground next week will be the famous trotter, Touch-record of 2:13%, and is expected to lower the record to 2:10. A great number of at-tractions is offered to lovers of horses by the Indianapolis Driving Club, and everybody is anticipating a great week. There will be cheap fares on the railroads to those desiring to come from outside In-dianapolis, and the probabilities are that these races will draw a larger attendance than any heretofore held at the Fair Ground race track.
